Brussels, July 3. The States of Flanders have sent their Deputies hither, who were this morning several hours with the Marquis de Grana, to settle the Matters proposed by his Excellency to those States when he was now lately in Flanders. His Excellency has ordered the Regiment of Marquis Baron (which was raised in the time of the Prince of Parma) to Embark at Antwerp in order to their passing to the Texel, where they are to go on board the Men of War which were built at Amsterdam for the Crown of Spain, and lie now ready to Sail. Marquis Bedmar is expected here this night, having left the Italian Regiments which he brought from Luxemburg, in Gelderland: He has by his Excellencies order, reformed two of the said Regiments, and Incorporated the Soldiers into the other two. Monsieur de Louvoy has been at Charlemont, Dinant, and Maubeuge, and is now at Lille; and whilst he is visiting the French Garisons on this side, his Son is visiting those upon the Meuse.

Brussels, July 7. His Excellency has sent Monsieur Vanderput, Colonel of Dragoons, Prisoner to Antwerp Castle, for refusing to obey the Governor of Leire, where he was in Garison; and on this occasion his Excellency has declared, That all Colonels
